Organisers comments – Aiden Boswell (from hibernation)

A healthy antipodean 'she'll be all right on the day' attitude saw it through to a successful end. It was just as well all the helpers knew what they were doing because I didn't have a clue.

On that note I would like to thank those who did help, mostly the same old reliable helpers who turn up every time. I am sure there must have been many NN members who came to run, so please DON'T BE SHY offer a hand. Many hands make light work....and you will get to know your fellow club members better. Many thanks to Maurice...registration was A1. Thanks Don finish was too.

I hope everybody enjoyed their courses and the relatively pleasant weather. Full credit to Alan and Alasdair for their expertise which ensured trouble free courses.

Planners comments – Alan Morgan

Only a few controls sites were changed (from the night event) mainly for the benefit of the Yellow course. I have found that it is interesting to run the same or similar course in daytime and in so doing reflect on the previous nights difficulties... I hope you all share the same view.

Thanks again to Alasdair Wilson-Craw for his Sunday morning leg work and to Aiden Boswell for carrying out the organisational work so efficiently.

Controllers comments - Alasdair Wilson-Craw (NATO)

The Planner and organisers reports leave me with little to say except to thank Alan for making my job easier than I feared, it being the first Night event I have controlled, and to thank Ken Redhead and his wife Pat for taking care of organisation.

The main problem for Alan and I was to balance the technical difficulty and interest of the control sites with the accessibility in the dark and security from vandalism.

From competitors comments we seemed to have achieved some success. I might even be persuaded to control another night event, but please no brambles!
