Organisers comments –

We hope everyone enjoyed their visit to Chopwell despite the odd snow shower and that newcomers to the sport are encouraged to try it again. Did you notice and appreciate the almost instant provisional results? That was Don Smith and team, with the computer. They couldn't manage an instant punch check, however, so these final results now include some disqualifications, which were for omitting controls or for punching at the wrong ones. The juniors concerned were on the orange course, when they should probably have been trying the simpler yellow one. Many thanks to Ralph and John, and ...as always....to the stalwart band of club members, old hands and new, who willingly helped out on the day. Special mention to three non-members who volunteered their services – Stan, Alan and Philip.

Planners comments – Ralph Bell

Planning in Chopwell has to cope with many conflicting requirements. Testing courses for the experienced orienteer, who knows the wood well; easy and interesting courses for the beginner; all having due regard to the vandals who plague all the woods in that area. We had no interference from the latter, thanks to the vigilance of John, Ben and you the competitors. I hope you found a course that suited you. I would particularly like to thank John Preston who was very understanding and helpful, checking the many aspects of course planning thoroughly and making the necessary corrections.

Controllers comments – John Preston

When checking Ralph's initial courses during February's blizzards, I little thought that we would be putting out controls in snow during April! Nevertheless, I hope you enjoyed the event. This event may be the last on the current map, as there are so many changes that Ralph had to plan round more map corrections than those shown on the day. I was particularly pleased with the success rate on the yellow course, having regard to recent comments in the 'Orienteer'. Thanks especially to Andrew Philipson for checking that the controls put out on the Saturday were still there before the first start on Sunday.
