The colour line

As a guide, competitors completing three courses of the same standard and finishing above the colour line should have gained enough experience to move up to the next colour standard.

The Navigation Challenge

BO members are eligible for a Navigation Challenge certificate after successfully completing 3 colour coded courses at the same Technical Difficulty (TD) standard. The certificates are 'star' based e.g. 1 star for TD 1 up to 5 Star for TD 5.

The Racing Challenge

BO members are also eligible for a Racing Challenge certificate after successfully completing 3 colour coded courses (of the same TD) within the following times.

Gold award - Participants time < Course length (km) x 12.5 mins Silver award - Participants time < Course length (km) x 15 mins Bronze award - Participants time < Course length (km) x 20 mins

Receiving Your Certificate

The certificates will be automatically generated via the results that clubs have uploaded into the BO website. They will be available for you to download via the members area of the BO website.

Organiser's comments - Boris Spence

Many thanks for all turning up to support this event, the numbers took us a little by surprise and did put a strain on map numbers. We are grateful to those competitors on the Green course who ageed to allowing us to re-cycle their map. If anybody would like an electronic copy of the map then please let me know.

Following a complaint recieved from a competitor, which was upheld, the Orange course has had to be voided. This was due to two controls on that course having the wrong control number in the control description which didn't match that on the control. We have heard that this had upset a few juniors who had been affected by it and hope that they accept our sincerest apologies.

There were also a few competitors who reported that some controls had not registered and these have been reviewed - only those missing control 195 have been re-instated.

If you feel agrieved that your result is still wrong and proved to the download team that you had visited a control by using the back up punch then please let me know so that the results can be updated.

Planner's comments - Rob McKenna

Firstly, I must apologise for the error with the Orange course - the controls in the field were correct and I can only assume that the maps were printed from an earlier version of the course, so sorry for that. There was a vociferous complaint made at the finish by one competitor and in the light of what happened it seemed fair to void the course. However, looking at the results it appears that only one competitor seemed to have been significantly affected by the error. This may be due to the fact that news of the error had reached later competitors before they started but I'm not too sure how this happened.

The courses were basically planned around a middle distance type race to get a reasonable layout for the longer courses. The area is quite pleasant to run round but is rather small, so planning longer legs can prove difficult. The Yellow course is also awkward to plan due to the lack of sufficient decent line features to follow. To add to this, many of the paths are grassy rather than clay and could have been difficult for the younger juniors to follow. It was commented that many of the controls on the shorter courses were quite visible but I felt it was better to play safe on these courses and not hide those controls.

One comment overheard at the finish was the number of trees that were used as controls - the area doesn't have a wealth of 'technical' features and even then there is generally a tree near the feature. The park is normally well used by the local residents and the fear that a control may have been interferred with lead to the decision to find fixed features to attach the controls to. I do hope that the constant change of direction and route to the control kept you on your toes.

There has been some citicism of EMIT following the event and the number of disqualifications due to missed controls. We have had a few issues with the kit lately, some due to battery failure of the boxes, which Boris is working hard at to overcome, but also failure of the Etag which is a bit more worrying as there is little we can do about that. This latter problem is partly to do with a batch of poor batteries installed in the tags at the factory but also to do with the age of the tags. Thankfully no tags failed this time, but there was one box (195) that was slow to respond. We have given competitors who were affected by this control the benefit of the doubt. Other controls that were missed were generally due to competitors not punching correctly, i.e. not checking that the tag is flashing at a control and if unable to get a flash then using the back up punch which was positioned at the control for this purpose. EMIT may not be as user friendly as SI due to its lack of an audible feedback but when used correctly it is a good system but it is unfortunate that it is not used often enough for competitors to develop an optimum technique for good control flow.
