Organiser's comments - Bob Johnson

A big thank you to George Rose and family for all the pre and postwork on entries and results, and for running the finish.

And just as big a thank you to all the club members, even some nonmembers, who cheerfully turned out to help on the day.

Planner's comments - Dave Caudwell

This turned out to be a very satisfying event. As well as planning the courses, I also surveyed and drew the map. Despite some of the quarries on Knitsley Fell being rather complicated, I managed to miss off only some minor features to aid the clarity of the map, although several large depressions had to be re-classified as small depressions when I would have rather used contours to show them, and one long thin one had to be turned into a gully. However, as a mapper, one is never too sure whether competitor, trying to navigate through the area at speed, are going to be able to read the map with confidence and accuracy. The very fast times on the longer courses suggest that at least some of you were able to.

The courses were deliberately planned so that you went into the forest early after a short taste of the moor. The idea was, that because the forest was relatively straightforward and the thinking was easy, your brain would be half asleep when you eventually emerged onto the fell, where very different techniques were needed. I also took the opportunity to take many of you a long way down towards the river Wear, so you had a long climb back to the moor, in the hope that you might also be rather weary when you arrived there. I hoped you enjoyed the contrast, anyway.

Several things nearly went wrong with this event. I was informed that the moorland heather would be burnt off before the end of March. Every time I went up there, I expected to see the area ablaze, but this never happened. Doubtless, this would have made your run up to the first control easier, but this would also have considerably altered the visibility on the moor, making things too easy, I think. You would also have needed a very good wash afterwards! The block of woodland you went through immediately before going onto the moor could have been felled at any time after March 1st, but wasn't. However in the block where 265 was sited, felling started on the Monday before the event, despite it being sold to the timber company only 4 days previously. I only just managed to save the control site by going down to see the men doing the work and pleading with them to continue their work on the other side of the block they had already felled. Some men were also cutting down some of the scrub on the fell to the SW of the road which they used to create hurdles for horse racing courses. This was improving the run-ability here (apart from the ankle high stumps they were leaving), but they said they would be finished by the end of February. I was a bit surprised to find, when putting out 214, that they had just cut a swathe through the thicket to the SW of it, allowing easy access from that control out onto the moor and so then down to the

Sorry about the large number of controls you had to visit, which might have been a bit off putting in the car park, but I felt this was necessary to stop the event becoming a road / track / ride race.

Finally, many thanks to the controller, Tricia Davies, who found all my errors and curbed my worst excesses and to the many competitors who expressed their thanks to us for staging such a good event. It seems to make it so much more worthwhile.

Controller's comments - Tricia Davies

Working with Bob and Dave was a pleasure, thanks to their meticulous organisation and planning.

As usual, Dave's mapping combined with his excellent courses led to what I think proved to be a very enjoyable event. I hope you appreciated his efforts to wear you out in the forest areas before you had to face the much more technical challenges of the moorland quarries! Comments around the finish certainly appeared to be positive.

Black Banks has always been one of my favourite areas and was enhanced on the day by the superb spring weather which made a pleasant change from the recent snow and gale force winds leading up to the event.

A course winner writes:

Course E: 20 controls in 5km crikey, I thought - a useful control picking exercise - and so it was!! The quarry workings were a bit like New Zealand sand dunes it was difficult to tell what was up and what was down without searching out the tags. The crag at no.9 wasn't on a contour which confused my mental picture lost 1¹/₂ minutes. I was so pleased to be running in warmth and sunshine. Carol McNeill
