Planner's comments - Colin Smith

I hope you all enjoyed your run in Kellas. As this was my first attempt at planning, I was glad that there were no major complaints on the day. On reflection a few minor things could have been improved. On the first half of the BLUE and BROWN courses the position of the second master maps could perhaps have been marked on the map in order to avoid confusion with the finish. This however is not usual practice. With regard to the shorter courses, the ORANGE, YELLOW and especially the WHITE night have been a little easier.

Finally I must thank Allan and Margaret White for doing such an excellent job of organising and particular thanks to John Preston for his patience and thoroughness in checking my courses and the rather large number of controls I chose to use.

Controller's comments - John Preston

Kellas is a pleasant, runnable plantation which can prove tricky for the unwary. Planning was complicated by the damage done by gales this winter. Many roads/rides selected for the easier courses were blocked - trees were even falling as we put the controls out (hence John's large floppy hat - Org.). Several changes were necessary to avoid the worst of the wind-blown.

It was our intention to try for a high success rate on the easier courses. The highest number of failures were on the YELLOW and ORANGE courses - I3/57 & 13/71 respectively. Judging from what we observed in the forest some of these were due to competitors on courses for which they were clearly not yet ready. The WHITE course was partly taped, with controls clearly visible on rides or roads, yet some children still left the path and went off into the forest.

In future I would consider (a) devising some method to ensure that first time YELLOW course competitors and all children on the WHITE course had their maps marked correctly, and (b) having an official at the first control to establish whether or not youngsters could orientate their maps and to assist if necessary (most carried compasses - often tightly round the neck or in an inside pocket).

I would suggest that any school or organisation which is interested in orienteering contact a club before taking the children to compete. I am sure it would be possible to arrange a walk round with an experienced orienteer pointing out what the symbols on the legend look like on the ground, etc. This may enable more 'first-timers' to have the satisfaction of successfully completing their course.

Congratulations to Margaret, Allan and Colin for the most efficient way they set about organising and planning the event.

Hope you all enjoyed yourselves and will compete in many more events.

Organiser's comments - Allan & Margaret White

Got a moment to spare?

We still haven't fathomed how we let Pat Redhead talk us into doing it. When Margaret put the phone down a dozen excuses sprang to mind but the die was cast with the words "yes of course Pat, no trouble at all, glad to do our bit". Pat could be heard nodding vigorously on the other end of the line. It did seem to us, when-the panic had subsided, that a few old hands do seem to bear the brunt of the work on behalf of the rest of us, and since they are getting no younger (JP aged visibly over the weekend!) then sooner or later the lot must pass to the rest of us. (Here endeth the sermon).

I must be very careful not to wax over-enthusiastically about the experience of organising Kellas, but in truth, both of us enjoyed it immensely. We came to know a lot more club members who had just been familiar faces up to then and we gained a great insight to the finer details of an O-event.

To all budding organizers - HAVE A GO ...you are well looked after by the club, who have written everything down that needs to be done. They will also appoint some wise old saw to keep an eye on things and to give helpful advice (John Preston in our case, who was both wise and sore after several hours in the forest). John made sure that we were aware of what had to be done and drew our attention to the more critical moments during an event, making sure that we were well manned at key points.

Colin proved to be a meticulous planner - both he and John impressed us as parents of two younger competitors, with their concern for their well-being on the easier courses. We think Colin got it right for the youngsters and our two children would agree. Having run the Brown course the week before it seemed so me as good as any and certainly testing.

In conclusion (you are probably late for work now or have burnt the toast) a few personal observations from the day itself - when John advised us to plan for 4-500 he seemed a bit over-optimistic but there you all were when the time came. The very large turn out of youngsters was particularly interesting (anything to do with Grange Hill or Anneka Rice I wonder?) please keep coming but do remember to try courses well within your limits. A particular point for the younger competitors especially those who seemed intent on blowing the accumulated fluff out of their whistles ......

WHISTLES ARE FOR EMERGENCIES ONLY!

(remember Roland & Bullit? well that's what we're talking about). If you do it next time I'll set the nasty wicked Controller on you! Memories of Kellas:

The easiest bit - getting people to help. Everyone was so obliging and seemed to know exactly what to do on the day.

The hardest bit - typing out all this lot.

The biggest worry - would all the helpers remember to turn their clocks forward an hour? I had visions of standing alone at 10 o'clock. The greatest relief - when the first competitor crossed the finish and when the last stub was matched to its control card.

The best bit - on Saturday walking through the forest with Margaret when all we could hear was the hiss of gently falling snow flakes (ah!) The worst bit - after only 4 hours kip in a tent John Preston waking me up at 6.30 with a note from Margaret saying our son was ill and she couldn't come up on the day..... then the stove ran out of gas and I couldn't get a hot drink.

The funniest bit - watching Ken ('Superman') Redhead trying to lift the back end of a 52 seater coach stuck in mud up to its axle (he did it eventually and saved some kids a long walk to Ormesby).

MANY THANKS TO ALL WHO HELPED ON THE DAY.
