Controller - Julian Warren.

Organiser's comments - David Brook

Many thanks for all turning up on what turned out to be a beautiful day. I was asked to stand in at the last minute after Rob McKenna had been involved in a road traffic incident.

This was the clubs' first use of SportIdent equipment and thanks must go to Andrew Nicoll and Colin Matheson for taking over the computing side of affairs.

The heavy rain in preceding days caused a few problems with the parking field, which in the end we had to abandon and resort to roadside parking. Thanks for your patience, understanding and generosity during this phase - especially to those who, when asked, still agreed to contribute to the charitable donation required by the farmer. Roadside parking was not really a first option as the club had been threatened with a bill from the local council, had damage been done to the verges.

In our haste to set things up, we seem to have overlooked a few of the necessary points essential for the smooth running of the event (signing of the registration cars). The club has learned a lot from this first outing into electronic punching and hopefully this experience will be put to good use next time.

Controller's comments - Julian Warren

This was my first SI punching event as an official and everything went like clockwork (perhaps that should be digital). Dave's excellent map and meticulous planning made my job easy. The courses were able to make full use of the most technical parts of the area thanks to the electronic punching and people whom I spoke to enjoyed their runs, which were enhanced by the glorious weather.

The only cloud on the horizon was some complaints about control 125. This appears to have arisen because runners expected the control to be in a re-entrant despite the control description and the position of the circle on the map indicating that it was in a depression. This is a very technical area in places and fine navigation is essential.
