Organiser's comments - Elisabeth and David Hale

Our grateful thanks to all club members who readily agreed to help at the weekend. The smooth running on each day was entirely due to your efforts. It would be invidious to single out the contributions made by any individual but we must acknowledge the composure of the start team on day 2 when it seemed that the entire collection of pre-marked maps would be borne away by the SW gale, never to be seen again.

Planner, surveyor, cartographer comments - Dave Caudwell

I feel that I have taken a year out of my life to put on this event for you. All my spare time has been spent on Carrs Top. I have not competed in a Badge or National Event since I started on the map and I have disappeared from the Ranking Lists. I am now fat and heavy, and have had to give up playing team squash because I am no longer fit enough to compete at anything like the level I was at this time last year. But, as John Maguire (planner of our next prestige event, a National Event at Bewick Moor in November 1996) said, while packing away the start after 2 hours constant battering from the gale force wind, "You must be very pleased: you found the area, got permission for it, surveyed it and then planned the courses for it."

Well, yes. Carrs Top is not a technically difficult area, but there are few man-made line features and the vegetation cover of mainly short grass (combined with lack of bracken and heather) meant that running over it should have been both very fast and pleasant. Of course, the very strong winds (fortunately warm ones) on the day made running towards the west next to impossible. Those of you on courses 1 to 5 who had long (just less than 2km) legs uphill into the wind were probably cursing me for as long as it took you to do the leg, but normally, although the wind is usually in that direction, it is much calmer there as the legs are on the lee side of the hill. Bear in mind also that if there is no wind on Carrs Top, a mist or fog generally settles on it in the Autumn. Would you have preferred that?

The wind caused other problems. Some notices blew away at the start, so finding your map bag was not as easy as it should have been in a few cases. Several control code numbers blew away from the control sites so some competitors were a bit nonplussed when they met this situation, however we had left out the tapes marking the control sites which also contained the appropriate numbers. Everyone I spoke to after the event seemed to be very understanding of these problems and appeared to be in good humour. I hope none of these difficulties spoiled your run for you.

I was a little worried about the younger juniors finding their courses too hard, but they seemed to cope well with good winning times and few retirals. In fact, most courses seemed to produce times which we thought were reasonable. Only the Orange course was clearly too long (or too hard), but course 14 also had a high proportion (25% of entries) of retirals despite a fast winning time. A touch of the wind, perhaps, ladies?

My thanks must go to Bill Hodgson (Controller) who found all my errors and gave good advice at all times while always being in unfailing good humour, even when checking the overprints; to Julian Warren (Assistant Planner) who uncomplainingly did all the hard work of looking after the control sites at the top of the hill; to Peter Fawcett (Head Keeper, Bollihope Estates) who was always most helpful in dealing with every request and problem put to him; and to all the willing volunteers who collected in the controls after the event in about an hour, when it had taken us the best part of two and a half days to put them out.

Controller's comments - Bill Hodgson (CLOK)

I hope you all enjoyed your day at Carrs Top. As expected, the fine weather resulted in some fast runs even though the very strong wind must have added 4 to 5 minutes on the long legs running east to west. The wind also carried away a few of the horizontal numbers though people could check the tags on the small canes that Dave put out at each site - I hope that no one suffered from this inconvenience. It was a pleasure to work with someone as well organised as Dave - it also helped that he was mapping the area as he gave me regular, colour updates of the map, which made controlling much easier. Elizabeth and David's experience meant that I needed to give only minimal time to the organisational side of the event. Overall, NN are to be congratulated, from my point of view, on a very well run event.
